POWER IN PRINT

According to tourism industry expert Roger Brooks, printed guides and brochures are NOT passé and are still an integral part of trip planning.

As much as we're tied to our tablets, smartphones, apps and computers, there's still no substitute for holding something tangible in your hands. According to a recent research study, printed brochures, maps and guides are used as a primary source for trip planning 55 percent of the time.

During a trip, 81 percent of additional decisions are made from printed brochures, maps and guides. Seven out of ten visitors pick up at least one brochure while on a trip.
